

Title: The Rodeo Summit

Genre: Symphonic Trap / Atmospheric Hip-Hop

Vibe: Triumphant, Luxuriant, and Introspective

[Introduction]

(Sound of a "Space Coupe" engine ignition, followed by ethereal synths and a distant reverb)

Jacques turned La Flame, now he's rolling on an Addy.

From the 713 to the world, the vision never fades.

It's lit!

[Verse 1: The Genesis of Achievement]

I came from the spot where Bun B used to blow up.

Now Granny calls and says, "Travie, you work too hard".

I told her, "Don't worry, I'ma get it, Granny," now my daddy's happy.

Mama called me up, that money's coming and she loves me.

I found life's meaning, her heart's no longer in pieces.

I don't want your Apple Pie, Mama, I don't need the handout.

I'm whipping my own recipe, making a legacy they can't stand out.

[Pre-Chorus: The Pressure of the Prime]

The career's more at stake when you in your prime.

Flying out of town just to find a little peace of mind.

I'm focused on the future, never looking at the "right now".

The signal is far from what you can be, way above the ground.

[Chorus: The 90210 Lifestyle]

In the 90210, looking for that alley.

Where the ice on my neck is flawless, shining through the valley.

VVS's on me, got my Gucci shirt wet.

Living Houstonfornication, a price you haven't met.

I'm on the pursuit of happiness, tryna get it right.

Even if everything that shines ain't gold tonight.

[Verse 2: The Aesthetic of Power]

Five hundred shoes for the drip, that's an investment.

I'm the bossman, keeping all the cash in the desk-ment.

Two-tone Pateks, in the Clearport like I Uber these jets.

Yves Saint Laurent on my pants and my chest, no regrets.

I make in one appearance what these haters make in four seasons.

Built the Astroworld playground just to give my baby reasons.

I am everything except a rapper, I got it lit.

Twenty-five lighters on my dresser, I'm never gonna quit.

[Bridge: The Weight of the Crown]

Stop tryna be God, that is not your job.

Fuck the money, never leave your people behind or they'll rob.

The party never ends in a motel laying with my sins.

But I know I did damage, the look in your eyes is where it begins.

If I fall, if I die, know I lived it to the fullest.

Dodging LA sins and catching all the golden bullets.

[Chorus Final]

In the 90210, looking for that alley.

Where the ice on my neck is flawless, shining through the valley.

VVS's on me, got my Gucci shirt wet.

Living Houstonfornication, a price you haven't met.

[Outro]

(Beat slows down to a distorted, slowed-and-reverb finish)

Room's spinning, room's spinning....

I'll be fine once I get it... yeah, I'll be good.

Jacques turned La Flame... the evolution is absolute.

Straight up!

(Fade out with the sound of a jet engine and a muffled heartbeat)